PARISH NOTES.

The Fête is over. The gross takings were £194. The expenses were £26. So we have banked a sum of £168, which is £23 more than the sum which we asked for.

The Countess of Shannon declared the Sale open. She referred to the long period during which she had known Quorn, and to the interest she always took in the village. Mr. Warner and Mr. Hayward, respectively, proposed and seconded a vote of thanks.

The weather played great games with us. But we dodged in and out of it, carried out our programme, and looked back and laughed at it.

The Hall was very tastefully decorated in green and white, and the workers wore badges of the same colours.

The Stall-holders were all tried hands. They had a most liberal supply and stood to their task steadily for the two days.

The Refreshment arrangements were admirable. There was a Café Chantant from 4.0 to 5.0, and tea and suppers in the marquee until the time of closing. The balance sheet will reveal wonders.

In the open-air there was a great variety of attractions. Tennis Tournaments on both days, lasting well on into the evening. Shooting, putting, cocoa-nut shies, racing, hooplas, hidden treasure and sheep weight-guessing; all of them entailing much care both in preparation and carrying out.

The "Merry Wives" was beautifully staged, and performed with the greatest possible credit to the whole of the caste. The audiences thoroughly entered into the fun of the plot and the good-natured conclusion of it, and the sound pinching of the elves and ouphes was a thing not to be forgotten. The half-hour concerts were worthy of a better hearing.

Many friends came from outside the Parish to help us in one way or another, and we were delighted to see them.

There is something to be said for Fêtes. The burden of contributing is spread over a large area. The poor whose names would not appear on a subscription list, make their little garments. And certainly on this occasion our joint labours were carried through most happily, and the two days were marked by much good will and friendship.

The thanks of the Parish are due to all who worked so hard for the success of the Fête, and to Mrs. Furr and Mr. Brown for their grounds so well adapted for the purpose.

A Meeting of the General Committee must shortly be held for the presentation of the Balance Sheet.

A beautiful window has been added to the Church. It is the gift of Mrs. Parker in memory of her first husband and her son Hubert. The artist is Mr. Powell, and the subject "The Good Shepherd" in the central light, and "Adoring Angels" in the outer lights. The gift, which was privately dedicated in the presence of the family, has added greatly to the beauty of the Church.

On Tuesday the 21st, Edmund Edward Eddowes, Rector of Barham, Suffolk, was married to Dorothy Kate Warner, eldest daughter of E. H. Warner, Esq and Mrs. Warner of Quorn Hall. The wedding aroused the keenest interest in the village, and on all sides there were evidences of good will. Miss Warner will be much missed as a worker in the Parish, and everyone will join in wishing her every possible happiness in her new home.

The Meeting in connection with the "Waifs and Strays" in the Vicarage Gardens, on June 13th, was attended by over 100 people, who all listened with great interest to the speaker's appeal for the Society's work. A collection of £5 1s. 1d. was taken. The following list of subscribers for this year in Quorn, will be of interest,

E. H. Warner, Esq. £1 1s.; C. T. Parker, Esq. £1 1s.; Rev. H. H. The G.F.S. had their outing at Maplewell on the 4th. There had been some heavy rain, but the afternoon was thoroughly enjoyed. There was a Corporate Communion of the Church members on the following morning.

The Vicar will be away for his holidays on Sundays, June 17th and 24th, and from August 1st to 6th, he will be in camp with the C.L.B. at Skegness.

A party of 19 went to the Palestine Exhibition on the 16th.

A party of 24 went to Peterborough on Saturday the 18th, to take part in the Diocesan Sunday School Teachers' Festival. It was a great opportunity for seeing our Cathedral, and was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

PARISH NOTES.

The funeral took place on Tuesday, the 5th day of July, of William Edward John Basil Farnham, Esq., who died at Brighton on the previous Thursday night. The service, which was Choral, was held in the Chantry Chapel. The Choir met the hearse at the gates and sang the hymn "Thine for ever" in procession. The greater part of the Service was held inside, leaving only the Committal and the hymn "Lead kindly Light" at the grave side. R.I.P.

The Mothers' Meeting had their outing to Nottingham on the 6th. It was a sad wet day, but nothing availed to damp the spirits of the mothers. We found a lot to interest us in the Castle, and a thoroughly good tea at the Mikado Café. We were all sorry for Mrs. Stevenson, who slipped on the steps of Mortimer's hole and injured herself, but fortunately she is progressing well.

At the last moment of going to press we have received notice from the Rural Dean that the Bishop of the Diocese will pay a visit to Quorn on Wednesday, August the 10th, at 12-o. He would be glad to meet the Churchwardens, Church workers, and any Parishioners who may desire to see him. There will be a short Service in Church at 12-o.

HOLIDAY NOTES.

A parson's fortnight is nineteen days. To-day is the 14th day and the 2nd Sunday. There are sermons to be listened to, but none to be preached, and so it is a day of rest. The mules have brought our baggage to the foot of glaciers and snow peaks, and under their shadow we have called a halt. It is good to have a change of sights and sounds. No whisper of home penetrates the mighty Alps, and for ought we know the cushions may have been replaced and the Church Room built.

We are four parsons and one layman. The latter for obvious reasons is Churchwarden. He calls for the bills and pays them; he squares the great army of portiers, concierges, and others; and at the close of the day presents his budget. There are heavy sacks on our backs for we pass from place to place. There are sore feet among the ten, for we spare them neither the rocky debris nor the deep snow, neither the hills above nor the valleys beneath. There are scorching suns, biting winds, and drenching rains, but we move forward merrily for there are wags among us; we lose our path most hopelessly, but five men can spread and recover the route, and the journey's end is always reached.

These are our companions in the Alps, beginning from above and coming down, a varied choice, satisfying to every mood and disposition. Towering heights, still and solemn. Sloping snow fields under the glare of midsummer sun. Flower bestrewn pastures with the music of a hundred cow bells, all differing in size and note. Pine forests, dark, steep and fragrant. And at the bottom of all through gorges deep and sunless, the perpetual roar of hurrying tumbling torrents, all making their way to the mighty Rhone and the ocean beyond.

From all these we must soon return. The stronger, we hope, in body, soul and spirit, for benefits bestowed. And none the less gladly to welcome the low lying Beacon, the gentle Soar, and the village life with its round of duty.

PARISH NOTES.

In the course of visiting the parishes of the Rural Deanery the Bishop paid a visit to Quorn on Wednesday, August 10th, at 12 o'clock. It was unfortunately impossible for many parishioners to assemble at this hour. A small congregation, however, of about 24 met in Church for a short service. The Bishop gave a devotional address on the text, "Where two or three are gathered together, there am I in the midst of them." A short adjournment was afterwards made to the Vicarage Garden where those who had been present in Church were introduced to the Bishop.

St. Bartholomew's Day was observed by a celebration of the Holy Communion at 7-15; a children's service at 5-30; and choral evensong, with sermon, at 8. At the last service the Rev. A. E. A. Jones, one of the assistant curates at Kettering, was the preacher. He took Bartholomew, according to a fairly well-established tradition, to be the same as Nathanael of whom St. John speaks in his first chapter. But for the most part he dealt with the lessons that are to be learnt from a life that, so far as the sacred record tells us was singularly uneventful. Such lives as are lived in the back-ground are doubtless often "Written in the Lamb's book of life."

The Harvest Festival will be held on September the 29th. There will be Holy Communion at 8-o a.m. and Choral Evensong at 7-30 p.m. The preacher will be the Rev. R. H. Fuller, Rector of Emmanuel, Loughborough. The collection will be for the Royal Agricultural Benevolent Association. On the following Sunday the festal nature of the services will be maintained, and there will be a choral celebration of Holy Communion at 8-o.

With regard to this latter announcement, it might appear that we were putting the Harvest Festival on a level with the other festivals of the Church, seeing that only on these days have we hitherto had a choral celebration. This is, however, not the case. But this is the reason. If we are right in thanking God for the harvest, as undoubtedly we are, then we must thank Him in the way that would seem to be most fitting and most clearly ordained. The Holy Communion, from one aspect, is our "Sacrifice of praise and thanksgiving." Therefore at that service, with the accompaniment of all that will help to make it most beautiful and most worthy, we should offer our best tribute of thanks for the fruits of the earth.

The O.L.B. Camp was a great experience both for Officers and lads. It was our Company's first opportunity of going to Camp. It was virgin soil. So our numbers were few—eight lads, the Acting-Captain, and the Chaplain.

It is one thing to drill once a week in the Village Hall. It is quite another to find yourself under canvas and submitting to military discipline for a week, a mere handful in the midst of three battalions numbering in all 2707 Officers and lads. The spirit of the great movement was infectious, and you caught it at once.

There were three Battalion corporate communions in the lads' marquee. There were Church Parades every morning. The Camp Chaplain (The Bishop of Hull), and the Battalion Chaplain gave short and pointed addresses. There was two minutes of silence for private prayer at ten p.m, and at reveillé.

Our lads, though few in number, were a credit to their Company, and the Captain of their line expressed his pleasure with them. Captain Seal was put in command of a line of Lancashire lads; it was a difficult task, but he acquitted himself well.

Duty, Discipline, and Devotion to God. These were the three notes that were struck continually throughout the week, and we came away better acquainted with all these three great aims of life. Next year we shall make a stronger muster.

The Choir boys had their Annual Outing on Monday, the 15th. Two carriages were engaged in the excursion train to Hunstanton leaving Syston at 6-35, and a brake was ready for us at the Cross at 5-30 to carry us to Syston. A storm had been raging since midnight and we awoke from short and fitful slumbers when most sane people were enjoying their first quiet sleep. Such breakfast as we had time for we put away, the rest we pocketed, and punctually at 5-30 we en-braked. Now what it was in the mind of our noble steed to do with us we never have discovered, for the dumb keep their secrets. Whether the storm that had passed from the skies was still raging in her breast, whether it was aviation she was bent on, or whether by cutting "S's" down the road she thought to train us for the helter-skelters and figure 8's, which in these days relieve the monotony of sea and cliff, none can tell. Her good intentions no one doubted, but at the first convenient opportunity we alighted. On terra firma and our own legs we pushed forward, only unhappy in this, that our steed ambling gently by our side seemed hurt and grieved that we would no longer join in her harmless frolics. At Syston we found our train had gone, but the railway officials were more than kind. A message was flashed up to Saxby to arrest its progress and meanwhile we came along by the ordinary service, found our train and our appointed seats, and were at Hunstanton by 10-0. The day was a glorious one, the sea sparkled with delight, and before we left the red sun had gone down behind Boston Stump. We bathed, paddled, rode ponies, ate mussels, visited the lighthouse, bought all kinds of souvenirs for our friends, in fact did everything we went to do and thoroughly enjoyed ourselves. The Vicar and Mr. Frisby accompanied the boys and enjoyed themselves no less.

The Church of England Men's Society is known at any rate by name to all our readers. Under the influence of the Archbishop of York it has made great strides in the last few years, and in many places is doing a very useful work. We should like to test the feelings of the Churchmen of the parish as to the advisability of starting a branch in Quorn. In order to do this a meeting, to which all men are cordially invited, will be held in the Schools, on Wednesday, Sept. 14th, at 8-0. The Rector of Ridlington, the Rev. H. P. Smith, Mr. Boden, the Schoolmaster at Syston, and Mr. S. K. Daniels will address the meeting on the aims and objects of the Society.

The Mothers' Union, which we must confess has been allowed to be dormant since the time of Mrs. Kelcey's presidency, has revived. A meeting of 37 members was held in the Village Hall, on Thursday, August the 25th. Mrs. Jerwood gave the address. We are glad to be able to say that Mrs. Hayward has consented to be president, and now that the Union is once more on its legs we look forward to a renewal of the very useful work which we understand it has done in the past.

We announce a slight change in the Services Daily Morning Prayer will in future be at 7.30, except on Friday, when it will continue to be at 11.0.

The District Visitors' meeting will be on Wednesday, Sept. 7th, in Church, at 11.0.
